

Red Shells Hit Yank's Base In Mekong Delta

SAIGON (AP)—The Communists opened up with mortars in the Mekong delta south of Saigon today, shelling the U.S. 9th Infantry Division headquarters—the main American base in the area—and four South Vietnamese camps.

Sixteen Americans were wounded in the attack, which followed intensified U.S. air strikes deep into North Vietnam. Air Force planes blasted the frequently hit MIG airfield at Hoa Lac west of Hanoi, and carrier-based Navy pilots flew through surface-to-air missile barrages to strike a bridge inside the port of Haiphong.

The shelling in the Mekong delta began Friday night on isolated government outposts near the cities of My Tho and Can Tho. Within minutes, help came from Air Force "Spooks"—old twin-engine C47s specially equipped to suppress night attacks by dropping flares and then opening up with quick-firing Gatling guns.

The attacks on the South Vietnamese posts continued sporadically during the night. Early this morning the Red gunners shifted to the big U.S. camp at Dong Tam, 42 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Spooks unloaded nearly 50,000 rounds on suspected Red mortar positions.

Hit Viet Town

At the northern end of South Vietnam, North Vietnamese mortar fire killed about 100 people in the district headquarters town of Hai Lang, about 25 miles below the demilitarized zone.

Communist infantrymen then tried to storm through wire barricades but were beaten back and lost 17 dead, military spokesmen said.

South Vietnamese losses were called light. To the northwest the U.S. Marine outpost of Con Thien was under fire. It has been every day this month but U.S. headquarters did not specify how many shells came in. It said only that about 128 Communist rounds fell on American positions below the DMZ. This could include four big posts and other lesser ones in the area. They are guarding possible Red invasion routes to the northern provinces.

Air Raids Continue

Since the heavy shelling of Con Thien began early this month, U.S. headquarters has shown increasing sensitivity to casualty reports and has begun de-emphasizing the frontier artillery duels.

The air pounding of Communist gun positions along the DMZ continued without letup. B52 bombers rained some 300,000 pounds of bombs on Red positions above Con Thien before dawn and Air Force and Marine jets continued to hit suspected gunpits during the day.

The U.S. Command said one Marine Phantom jet was shot down near the DMZ Friday, the third jet lost this week in the area. The two others parachuted into the Tonkin Gulf and were rescued.

Johnson Offers To End Bombing For Peace Talk

Ready To Send Team Anywhere To Negotiate

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has offered to stop bombing North Vietnam on only one stated condition: That it "lead promptly to productive discussions" aimed at a peaceful settlement of the war.

Reviewing Vietnam policy for a bipartisan gathering here—and for a nationwide television-radio audience—Johnson adopted language Friday night that sounded conciliatory, but did not weaken his expressed determination to see the war through to an acceptable ending.

Thus, in talking about a possible bombing halt, he said: "We of course assume that while discussions proceed, North Vietnam would not take advantage of the bombing cessation or limitation."

This rather vague phrasing, when contrasted with some earlier U.S. demands for a premise by Hanoi to scale down its side of the war in order to gain respite from American bombs, seemed more flexible.

One administration source said the softer language was not accidental: that the government—in both public and private messages to Hanoi—has been probing for a formula that would get talks started.

But he suggested that Johnson's "we assume" statement amounted to putting Hanoi on notice once again that the United States would expect something more than talks if it were to stop the bombing.

The source said U.S. policy thus remains basically unchanged.

Certainly Johnson held out no hope of an early solution. He reminded his frequently-applauding listeners that "Hanoi has not accepted any of these proposals" for peace talks in the past.

But the Chief Executive emphasized that "we and our South Vietnamese allies are wholly prepared to negotiate now." He said: "I am ready to talk with Ho Chi Minh and other chiefs of state concerned tomorrow."

"I am ready to have Secretary Rusk meet with their foreign minister tomorrow."

"I am ready to send a trusted representative to any spot on this earth to talk in public or private with any spokesman for Hanoi."

While emphasizing peace efforts in his address—delivered before 1,600 delegates to the National Legislative Conference of State Officials—Johnson put approximately equal stress on U.S. determination to persevere in Vietnam.

"First, we must not mislead our enemy," he said. "Let him not think that debate and dissent will produce wavering and withdrawal. For I can assure you they won't. Let him not think that protests will produce surrender. Because they won't. Let him not think that he will wait us out. For he won't."

"Second, we will provide all that our brave men require to do the job that must be done, and that job's going to be done."

This last statement drew a loud burst of applause. Johnson also was applauded lustily when, after saying recent history "strongly suggests" a Communist victory in South Vietnam would lead to a Communist conquest of all Southeast Asia and increase the possibility of World War III, he went on:

"As President of the United States, I am not prepared to gamble on the chance that it is not so. I am not prepared to risk the security—indeed, the survival—of this American nation on mere hope and wishful thinking. I am convinced that by seeing this struggle through now, we are reducing the chances of a larger war—perhaps a nuclear war. And I would rather stand in Vietnam, in our time, and by meeting this danger now and facing up to it, thereby reduce the danger for our children and grandchildren."

While conceding "there are many sincere and patriotic Americans who harbor doubts" about the wisdom of the war, Johnson said, "the key to all we have done is our own security."

Bombing Offer Aimed At Political Critics

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's offer to stop U.S. bombing of North Vietnam if that action would lead promptly to "productive discussions" is evidently designed to soften the wording of his policy without actually changing it.

Johnson held out little hope, however, in his speech in San Antonio, Tex., Friday night that President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam would take up the offer.

Johnson said the North Vietnamese still believe they can win their struggle to take over South Vietnam because they "hope that the people of the United States will not see the struggle through to the end."

High Washington officials have said privately in the last few days Hanoi has given no indication through secret diplomatic channels of an interest in opening peace talks.

Test Ho's Mood

Persons familiar with the planning of the President's speech said it was intended to make his policy on halting the bombing and starting talks as acceptable as possible to Ho Chi Minh if the Communist leader is in any mood to respond at this time.

Presumably, Johnson also wanted to put his position in a form as agreeable as possible to domestic and foreign critics. Recently at the United Nations General Assembly several speakers have called for an end to the bombing in the hope that Ho would then be willing, perhaps in three or four weeks, to enter into discussions that would lead to a peace settlement.

The most dramatic statement in Johnson's speech was his declaration he was "ready to talk tomorrow" with the North Vietnamese leader or to send Secretary of State Dean Rusk to meet the North Vietnamese foreign minister if there was a willingness on the other side to begin negotiations in good faith.

Start In Secret

Diplomatic officials said actually that if and when talks can be arranged, they will almost certainly begin in secret and at a much lower level than that of president or foreign minister.

North Vietnamese leaders have been saying for many months that if the United States ended the bombing unconditionally—or sometimes they say definitively and unconditionally—there "could" be talks.

In London last February, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin commented publicly that if the United States ended the air raids unconditionally "it would be possible" to have discussions with North Vietnam. He was reported to have sent word to Johnson that such talks could start three or four weeks after the bombing ended.

Five Counties Plan To Defy U.S. Time Act

"The Upper Peninsula got what it wanted—Central Time Zone—and we thought everything was settled and quiet up there."

That's what the U. S. Office of Transportation in Washington said Friday after learning that at least five Upper Peninsula counties have already passed resolutions indicating they will defy the federal order to return to Central Standard Time Oct. 29.

Delta County's Board of Supervisors is expected to consider a similar resolution at its fall meeting Oct. 9.

The U. S. Office of Transportation, which must enforce the Uniform Time Act, stipulated in June that the Upper Peninsula is in the Central Time Zone and will revert to Central Standard Time on Oct. 29.

The Washington office indicated, however, that no action will be taken until the "intent to violate the federal law is absolutely clear."

Meanwhile, the Office of Transportation will issue a new directive next week explaining the Uniform Time Act, which besides placing the Upper Peninsula on Central Standard Time returns lower Michigan to Eastern Standard Time.

Boards of Supervisors in the Upper Peninsula having passed resolutions contrary to the federal act includes those in Houghton, Iron, Chippewa, Marquette and Schoolcraft Counties.

In Dickinson County, although the Board of Supervisors has not acted, the City of Kingsford Council has said it will definitely order Eastern Time for its limits. The Iron Mountain and Norway Councils also reportedly favor Eastern Time.

North Vietnam Cold Shoulders Johnson's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's latest enunciation of his Vietnam policy drew an apparent advance brushoff from Hanoi and mixed comment from Congress.

Even before the President spoke Friday night, offering to halt U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in return for prompt, "productive discussions," a high-ranking North Vietnamese official appeared to be turning thumbs down to such a proposal.

Vice Premier Le Thanh Nghi said in Peking that the United States "must unconditionally halt its bombing and other war acts against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam once and for all," withdraw its forces from South Vietnam and recognize the Viet Cong as "the sole genuine representative of the people of South Vietnam."

Nghi's speech, reported by the New China News Agency and monitored in Tokyo, clashed specifically with Johnson's later assertion in his San Antonio, Tex., speech that the United States would "assume" that during any bombing halt the North Vietnamese would reciprocate by a military slowdown.

Congressional backers of the President's war policies applauded his speech while opponents rapped it.

And House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, hinting at an issue the GOP is expected to hit hard should Johnson seek reelection, appeared unconvinced the President spoke the whole truth.

Speaking to newsmen in Lancaster, Ohio, where he was attending a testimonial, Ford said he hoped Johnson was telling the public "the absolute truth about the many efforts the administration has made in seeking some accord with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong."

The GOP leader said he would support a halt in bombing—but only if the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong scaled down their military activities.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, who has called for even stiffer U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnam, said Johnson's speech was a lucid and proper description of the nation's posture.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen found the speech forthright and saw in it an open invitation to Hanoi to negotiate—but only with reciprocal guarantees.

Police Break Up Saigon Protest

SAIGON (AP)—Club-swinging police broke up an antigovernment student demonstration outside the National Assembly today as the assembly debated whether to validate the election of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu as president.

Several blocks away, 1,000 Buddhist monks and nuns ended a separate sit-down protest against South Vietnam's military rulers. They marched from government headquarters but left behind their militant leader, Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang, who has vowed to stay in front of the building until his demands are met.

It was the third day of antigovernment protests but observers said the unrest did not appear a critical threat to Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the vice president-elect.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker went to see Thieu and was believed to have expressed U.S. concern about the situation.

Bunker and other embassy officials have been meeting frequently with Thieu and Ky, and with members of the National Assembly, to point out that refusal by the assembly to approve results of the Sept. 3 presidential election could radically affect American public opinion and the course of U.S. support in Vietnam.

U.S. officials have already termed the election fair. Twenty-two election observers sent by President Johnson generally said they found no evidence of fraud.

The assembly's special committee reviewing charges of election irregularities brought by defeated civilian candidates has voted overwhelmingly to throw out the results of the voting.

Despite the committee's action, observers believed it unlikely that the full assembly would order a new election. But they said assemblymen opposed to Thieu and Ky would probably extend debate in the assembly until the midnight Monday deadline in an effort to embarrass the government.

The Central Election Council, which studied the complaints of voting irregularities, reported to the special election committee this week that it had found no substance to any of the 15 charges.

Texas Flood At Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The Rio Grande, which left destruction and human misery in its wake, hurled its floodwaters today at the mouth of the Gulf of Mexico where the trouble began 10 days ago when Hurricane Beulah hit.

The river was at flood stage in the Rio Grande Valley from Rio Grande City eastward for almost 200 miles, although it was receding in some spots.

The 153,000 residents of the Brownsville, Tex.-Matamoros, Mexico area at the Rio Grande's mouth braced for the floodcrest, expected sometime today.

Flood stage is 18 feet at Brownsville. The Weather Bureau said the river had reached 16.58 feet early today.

Steel Haulers Vote On Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Relative peace returned today to the highways in this area for the first time in two weeks as striking steel haulers got ready to vote on ground rules for ending their violent, eight-state walk-out.

The only incident reported in the first six hours after a tentative agreement was reached Friday night was an aimless rock-throwing from a bridge on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

That was a sharp contrast to the nights of gunfire, ambushes, beatings and vandalism that marked the strike since it began from Gary, Ind., to the big steel centers of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Truckers also struck in Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia and New York.

Details of the stopgap measures to put the 10,000 to 20,000 rigs back on the road were not disclosed. The drivers, who own their trucks but are affiliated with the Teamsters Union, will vote on the provisions first.

Jury Probes Plot To Buy Hoffa Trial

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Three grand juries are probing alleged Cosa Nostra activities in Louisiana and one of them has accused a contractor of bribing a governor's aide in an attempt to buy a new trial for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

The East Baton Rouge Parish Grand Jury indicted New Orleans contractor D'Alton Smith Friday. The indictment said he tried to get an aide to Gov. John J. McKeithen to serve as a middleman in an alleged $1-million scheme to get Hoffa a new trial.

Smith, who divides his time between New Orleans and Los Angeles, is being sought by police.

The charge against him carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine. The alleged attempt to buy Hoffa out of prison, where he is seeking a term for tampering with a jury, also is the subject of a federal grand jury investigation in New Orleans.

In addition, the Orleans Parish Grand Jury in New Orleans has issued a subpoena for Carlos Marcello, described as the Cosa Nostra boss in Louisiana, to appear before it Thursday.

Marcello, a short, grey-haired man who lives in Metairie, a New Orleans suburb, was reported away on a trip. The subpoena was left with his wife.

Smith was accused of offering $25,000 to Aubrey Young to set up for him a private meeting with Edward G. Partin, a Teamsters Union official in Baton Rouge.

Partin is not easily accessible. He has had federal marshals as bodyguards since becoming a key government witness in Hoffa's 1962 conviction.

Rejects Bribe

Partin said he rejected a $1-million bribe at the meeting, offered if he would change the testimony he gave at the trial and thus establish new grounds for a new trial.

Young resigned as McKee's aide in July. He spent two days as a state's witness, immune to prosecution, before the grand jury.

Dist. Atty. Sargent Pitcher of Baton Rouge said Young agreed that he had arranged the meeting, at his home, between Partin and Smith. Pitcher said, however, that Young denied accepting $25,000 for the action.

Whether the money actually was paid would not change the charge. Louisiana law does not discriminate between bribery and attempted bribery.

UPCAP Given $99,592 Grant By Government

WASHINGTON—The Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress headquartered in Escanaba will receive a $99,592 grant from the Economic Development Administration to continue its program of economic assistance in the Upper Peninsula for another year.

Announcement of the grant was made Friday by Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan. UPCAP will contribute $33,200 in services to meet the $132,792 program cost.

The grant brought to $111,875 the amount of federal grants made to UPCAP in the past two years. Thursday, a $12,283 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity was announced to continue its Small Business Development Center for two months in the Upper Peninsula.

Lee Meyers, executive director of UPCAP, said the $99,592 grant is "basically to assist the Upper Peninsula in the area of economic development for the coming year."

"In other words," he added "to continue the UPCAP operation in the area of economic development, to pay salaries, and to maintain the staff of experts we have in the area of economic development."

UPCAP provides technical assistance to economic development districts and county planning bodies, provides services and works in the area of regional planning, works toward industrial development, development of transportation, marketing and crafts, and is involved in tourism and recreational development and other programs that might complement economic advances, such as manpower housing, etc.

The grant will cover a 12-month period, Meyers said, with starting date depending exactly when UPCAP receives its formal offer, signs and returns it.

George Rusch said the $12,283 grant to the Small Business Development Center will finance the center through the end of October. Funds will be used for general administration of the center, including salaries, office expenses, travel, etc.

26 Men Called For Induction

Twenty-six Delta County men have been ordered to report for induction into the U. S. Army and an additional 15 have been ordered for pre-induction examinations in the October Selective Service calls. Mary M. Wagner, clerk of Local Draft Board 21 announced today.

All of the men will report to the Selective Service office at 11 a. m. Monday, Oct. 9, for transportation to Milwaukee induction and examination centers.

A noon meal will be served before departure, Miss Wagner said.

From Rapid River—Jon W. Anderson, John E. Parrett, Paul J. Pineau, Loren T. Spriks, Martin L. Johnson and Richard D. Cayer.

Also ordered for induction are Gerald F. Hardwick of Nahma; Lawrence Nedeau of Ensign; George R. Micheau and Larry O. Johnson of Rock; Dennis H. Porath of Bark River; Dennis W. Carlson of Cornwell, and David E. Cota and Vanner E. Erickson Jr. of Garden.

Jon Anderson of Rapid River was named leader of the group.

Men ordered to report for pre-induction are:

John W. Erickson, Richard DeGrand, Lester A. Lake, Neil F. Kositzky, Dwaine R. Menard, Roger C. Smith, Walter F. Kulik, Walter J. Pack and Lawrence R. Deno of Escanaba; James A. Barr of Bark River, and James L. Soper of Gladstone.

Also reporting are Fredrick E. Ring, Cornell, orders transferred to Farmington, Mich.; Alfred J. Meinz Jr., Escanaba, transferred to Davenport, Iowa; John E. Richards, Gladstone, transferred to Detroit, and David H. Miller, Rochester, Minn., transferred to Escanaba.

Miss Wagner said the tentative November induction call is nine and the tentative pre-induction call is 20. Orders will be mailed when the date to report is received.

Capt. David Viaw Receives Degree From Air Institute

DAYTON, Ohio — Capt. David L. Viaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Viaw of 1819 Grand Ave., Escanaba, has graduated with a master of science degree in logistics management from the Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) at Wright-Patterson AFB.

Capt. Viaw, a communications-electronics staff officer, was among 115 key government officials and military officers selected for the 12 month course which emphasized methods of improving the utilization of human and material resources. AFIT provides accredited graduate-level resident training as part of the Air Force's professional education program. He is assigned to the Defense Communications Agency at North Camp Drake, Japan.

Viaw, a graduate of Escanaba High School, received a B.S.E.E. degree from Michigan Technical University, where he was commissioned in 1960 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Supervisors To Meet Oct. 6-7

The Upper Peninsula Supervisors Association will hold their semi-annual fall meeting on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6-7, at the Mather Inn, Ishpeming.

Clifford Johnson, president of District 1, said William E. Dennison, secretary of the State Association of Supervisors, will brief the conference on legislation in Lansing. He will also discuss matters to be considered by the special fall legislature session as well as the next regular session of the Legislature which will be in January.

Senator Joseph Mack (D-Ironwood and State Reps. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) and Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) will give their views on pending legislation.

During the afternoon business session, the supervisors will hear special reports from Upper Peninsula, state and federal organizations and agencies, including a report on Great Lakes fishing by Asa Wright, fishery biologist for the Lake Superior District of the Department of Conservation.

The Friday evening banquet will be held at the Mather Inn. The Saturday morning session will be devoted to the reports of committees, resolutions and old and new business, according to Secretary Kermit Tessmer of Daggett.

Cisler Day To Thank Detroit Friend Of U.P.

ST. IGNACE — Saturday, Oct. 7, will be "Walker Cisler Day" in Michigan's Upper Peninsula as 500 persons from all over the United States plan to celebrate Cisler's 70th birthday with a party in St. Ignace.

Prominent citizens of the area led by Mackinac Bridge Authority Chairman Prentiss M. Brown and Frank S. Hoholik, president of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., decided several months ago to say "Thank you" to the internationally famous public utilities executive who has quietly and effectively contributed to the economic resurgence of the Upper Peninsula.

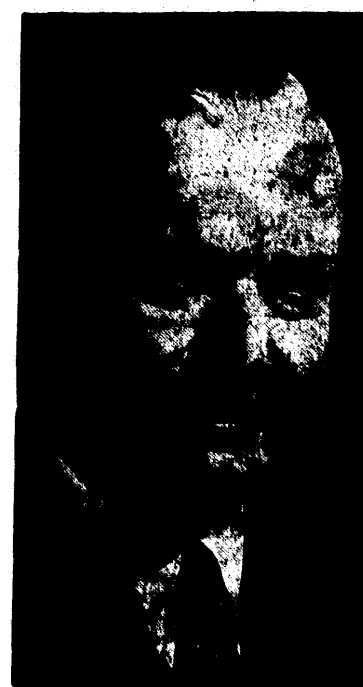

As chairman of the board of the Detroit Edison Co., Cisler has applied the vast resources of that organization to many Northern Michigan projects. Before the building of the bridge, Cisler's company sponsored the famed Ebasco Report which diagnosed and inventoried the economic and social problems of the area and recommended the necessary steps for improvement. The report has served as background and a basic source of material for subsequent studies of the area.

Cisler was chairman of the Mackinac Bridge dedication in June of 1958, an event which received world-wide publicity due in a great measure to the efforts and resources of the Detroit Edison Co. and its personnel.

Since the opening of the bridge, Cisler became a co-founder of Operation Action—U.P. He has persuaded a number of leading Lower Peninsula businessmen to contribute their time and effort toward Upper Michigan's progress.

Under his leadership and direction, many worthwhile projects have gone forward as follows: Operation Progress Tour; An Electric Power Survey; The attractive brochure, "The Good Life in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, 1962" and revised in 1967; assistance with a "Directory of Manufacturers" and many other projects of special benefit to industries and areas of the Upper Peninsula.

"We are grateful to Walker Cisler for what he has done for all of us up here," said Brown and Hoholik, "and on the eve of his 70th birthday we thought it would be appropriate to tell him so. We mentioned this to other people throughout the Community College Role Growing

A group of men and women from throughout Michigan who are in a brand new business were told by two educational leaders at The Terrace on Friday night that their business is going to grow tremendously and probably become the biggest thing in higher education.

The group was the Michigan Association of Community College Boards, with more than 100 persons in attendance at their second annual meeting. The speakers were Dr. Max Smith, professor of higher education and director of community college cooperation at Michigan State University, and Dr. Harold T. Smith, of the Upjohn Institute, Kalamazoo, director of the State Plan for Higher Education of the State Board of Education.

Dr. Smith urged on the board members the development of written policies for community colleges. Written policy he said provides the best thinking of members on specific problems, more effectively resists pressure groups, provides a better identification of problems and a better understanding of the purposes and objectives of community colleges.

More Colleges

Dr. Smith said there were only 50 community colleges in the United States in 1955 with 3,500 board members and this year there are 900 colleges with

Morris Laux Taken By Death

MANISTIQUE—Morris Frederick Laux, a life long resident of the Manistique area, died Friday at St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, Minn., where he had been a patient for several days.

He was born June 30, 1925 in Manistique and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Laux. Mr. Laux was employed as a cashier for the 1st National Bank of Manistique. His marriage to the former Marion Knopp took place in Manistique in 1958.

He was a member of the Rotary Club and served as its president, Elks Lodge 632, Cancer Society, Bay Cliff Fund Drive, a member of the Board of Directors of the Top O Lakes Michigan Chamber of Commerce, Lakeside Lodge 371, F. & A. M. Chapter 127, R.A.M. Escanaba, Commandery 47, Knights Templar, Francis M. Moore Consistory, Ahmed Temple Shrine and the Hiawatha Shrine Club.

He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. Anton (Ruth) Jomp of Manistique and Mrs. Lionel (Marion) Polter of Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Ke-leavey and Jackson Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Monday and funeral services are tentatively set for 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Elected

The Michigan Association of Community College Boards in second annual meeting at Bay de Noc Community College this morning elected Robert Small, Lake Michigan College, Benton Harbor, president.

Dr. Dean Burns, M.D., North Central Michigan Community College, Petoskey, was elected vice president; Burt Walker, Jackson Community College, secretary; and Joseph L. Heirman, Bay de Noc Community College, treasurer.

Elected to the executive committee were Mrs. Paul Sutton, Delta Community College, Saginaw; and Albert Boyd, Lansing Community College.

6,500 board members. There will be over 7,000 trustees by 1972 he said and "much of the future of the country will be in the hands of these trustees."

They should organize strong state associations, he suggested, to parallel the governing boards of the universities. They should work to strengthen the presidencies of the community colleges because executive leadership won't infringe on the authority of the board and strong executive function cannot be exercised without board support.

State Role

Stressing that he was speaking for himself and not for the State Board of Education nor the State Plan for Higher Education, Dr. Smith said "We are not writing a one shot state plan for higher education but suggesting continuing planning for higher education. This has come out of our new state constitution which put all baccalaureate (degree-granting, 4-year institutions) under autonomous boards, with the State Board of Education the general planning and coordinating body for all education.

"The community college has been built into our higher education system in a very large way. It is not apt to be many years before there are more students in community colleges than in all other institutions of higher education put together. This state is coming to think of the community college as the chief educational facility for post secondary (high school) education as well as for transfer students.

"They (the transfer students) are going to come anyway, the colleges don't have to go after them. As the state population gets larger the bigger institutions are going to have to slow down on the number of students they can take in."

Multiversity Problem

Dr. Smith said that there is some talk of universities with 200,000 to 300,000 students "but the bigger they get, the harder it is to do it." He said that Dr. Clark Kerr, former head of the University of California's multi-campus system and chief creator of the "multiversity" concept said at Harvard University recently that when a university gets too big the people who live in it can't participate in it. "Be quite sure that the percentage of students in the big school will go down," said Dr. Smith.

Job Training

"We count in Michigan on the community colleges carrying the burden for occupational education. When I began work on occupational education for the Upjohn Institute in 1962 it never occurred to me that the community college was the instrument for carrying it out. It was regarded as too academic and the older community colleges are having more difficulty with it than the new ones. But the numbers enrolled are so great that I wondered if you'd padded your reports to the State Board of Education.

"Over 200 different occupational programs which can be subdivided into hundreds of courses are being offered in our community colleges. They have from 3 to 44 program each. Twelve schools have 40 different apprentice training programs. The State Board of Education wants to be partners with you in this program, not policemen.

"The Upjohn Institute's manpower study analyzed 45 occupations in Michigan and broke them down into skill processes. A curriculum could be built on these instead of the occupations themselves.

"On community college admissions we say an open door policy, but we need certain rational restrictions. Most community college boards pressure the universities not to close their doors to those who want to go on, but I'm not worried about this. We don't want admission by edict.

"Finances Difficult" Should we cover community college costs with state help, tuition and local taxes in the same proportions in all districts? Capital is the biggest bottleneck you have. You can't keep crowding people into a community college and keep quality work. So who is going to build the capital structure?"

Chairman Joseph L. Heirman of the Bay de Noc Community College board welcomed the visitors. Robert Cahow, executive secretary of the MACCB thanked State Reps. Charles Varnum and Russell Hellman for their aid to education and Harold Fischer, Schoolcraft Community College, Livonia, the president of the MACCB introduced its officers.

Herbert McCreedy Pigeon, chairman of the State Board for Public Community and Junior Colleges, said "You're going to have to talk to your legislators because the community colleges are not getting enough money to do the job that has been assigned to them.

"We should complete the job of offering the opportunity to attend a community college to all the people of Michigan and we have a long way to go. We need all your help from community college administrators and board members and from legislators."

Would Build Pool With Bonifas Fund

Dr. A. A. Gossan, co-chairman of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, today announced that a special public meeting to discuss a Bonifas fund swimming pool will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Building at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Dr. Gossan said the meeting is being called by the Committee "because of a revival of public interest in a swimming pool-recreation program."

"Individuals and groups interested in construction of a swimming pool with the Bonifas recreation funds, instead of a Recreation Center building, are asked to attend, since immediate action will be necessary to temporarily halt the outlay of these funds pending determination of public opinion regarding their disbursement," Dr. Gossan said.

"Civic, labor, educational and athletic groups are asked to send representatives," he added.

The meeting is the latest development in a long public discussion of the community center proposal.

The City Council has approved the construction of the proposed center at the water tower site and has set the date of Oct. 16 for the opening of bids. The building is to be constructed with Bonifas funds, of which the Councilmen are trustees.

The City Council has also asked City Manager George Harvey to place on the agenda for the next meeting consideration of a special election to determine whether Escanaba voters want to raise millage to finance construction of a swimming pool.

Wells Man Hurt In Auto Mishap

Gerald A. Larson, 32, of Wells, was hospitalized early this morning after his car left U. S. 2 and 41 in Wells Township and ran through a group of pine trees.

State Police said Larson was northbound about 6:30 a. m. when the accident happened. Larson told officers that a car coming the wrong way on the divided highway forced him off the road.

The accident remains under investigation. Larson, although he suffered facial bruises, was not believed to be seriously injured, officers indicated.

In another accident early today, Joseph M. Pack, Harris, was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law, too fast for conditions, after his car left Old U. S. 2 in Harris Township, Menominee County. He was not injured. Officers said the accident happened about 5 a. m.

Junior Achievers Start 10th Year

The 10th year of Escanaba Junior Achievement is getting under way with the first meeting of the school year scheduled for Monday night, Oct. 2.

Dwayne Burak, Escanaba JA program director, said the meeting will be held in the all-purpose room at Holy Name High School at 6:45 p. m. The meeting is to be held there because of a heating problem at the regular JA headquarters on Ludington St.

Students of all three JA companies will meet for the beginning of organization, which will develop into the naming of company officers and directors, sale of stock, selection of a product to be manufactured, and its marketing.

Junior Achievement is a practical experience of young people in conducting a business enterprise, in which they learn methods of financing an industry and its operation under the profit system.

Advisers to Junior Achievement are volunteers from local business and industry and this year so far include John and Ed Gries, Rune Ostlund, Dean McNeely, Emil Ogren, Rudy Gustafson and Clarence Zeno.

"You pays your money and you takes your choice!"

Remember how nice it was to have old Mr. Bailey (or Mr. Banducci, or Mr. Bernstein) say Good Morning? And ask about how the oldest was doing at school this semester? And tell you about his azaleas and wasn't it a shame the way the Town Council was handling the park?

And maybe we forget that there wasn't any lettuce in the winter. That you had your choice of one brand of canned Salmon. That in the summer, the one sure topic at the dinner table was whether or not the butter had really turned too much to use.

The fact is, Mr. Bailey had the only game in town. He didn't have too much competition—and you didn't have too much choice.

These days, if your regular store doesn't have bagels or fresh strawberries or convenient parking or nice clerks or seven different kinds of snack crackers...well, you don't even stop to think about it—you just go to a store that does. That's the way the system works—"you pays your money and you takes your choice", including conversation, if you want it.

By The Gills

A fish's gills are the organ by which it "breathes." Slotted back of the head, they make the fish vulnerable to a gill net. This is a mesh which is suspended by floats and anchors and when the fish try to swim through it, it closes about their heads and entangles in their gills, drowning them. It is an ancient type of fishnet and has been used in the Great Lakes for more than a century.

The Michigan Conservation Department is proposing to ban gill nets and to limit fishing to impoundment types of nets, which trap the fish alive instead of strangling them. The reason for its action is the department's current effort to restore the Great Lakes fishery, which has suffered a massive deterioration under depredations of the sea lampreys, poor management, and explosion of trash fish populations like that of the alewives.

When the Conservation Department planted lake trout from hatcheries to restock the lakes after the lampreys had been brought under control with chemicals, it found that commercial fishermen were taking so many of the young trout in nets set for whitefish that the stocking effort was imperiled. Some of the netting was in other states' waters of Lake Michigan, like Indiana and Illinois.

The department reaction was to order a ban on gill net usage in order to prevent destruction of its restocking effort and waste of the money being invested in it. It reasoned: We must restore the fishery if there are to be fish for catching by commercial fishermen or by sports fishermen. (The latter are getting the state's preference in the restoration of the lakes fishery because they make the resource so much more valuable than commercial usage.)

The commercial fishermen are opposing the gill net ban as a threat to survival of their trade and their spokesmen were heard this week in hearings on the gill net ban at Houghton, Escanaba and Newberry.

The fishermen say that there's room for both commercial fishing and sports fishing in the lakes and that their operations are vital to a well-managed fishery. They employ good logic thus far. When they add that they are the public's hope of getting fish in the market they are less impressive because the state is under no compulsion to provide a livelihood for commercial fishermen nor to fill the fishmonger's shop with fish.

The state is under a compulsion, however, to restore the Great Lakes fishery and public policy dictates that it be used for the greatest public benefit. This will automatically mean a change to the increased sports fishing envisioned by Conservation Department. But this need not and should not kill off the commercial fishermen; they are, as they say, absolutely imperative to the management of a fully productive Great Lakes fishery.

The Conservation Department, which has shown some genius quality in its Fish Division of late, may be excused somewhat for its boo-boos in the restoration program because it's all so new and experimental, but it seems to us that it has retained an old cops-and-robbers attitude toward the commercial fishermen in a new era of enormous change and that it has needlessly frightened and injured the commercial fishermen.

Where was the planning that could have anticipated the heavy take of illegal undersized lake trout in legal whitefish nets? Where is the department effort to find helpful work for the commercial fishermen to help tide them over until the fishery is restored and their role in its management is more clearly defined and more assuredly profitable?

For the Conservation Department to approach the task of lake fishery restoration without a helpful view of the commercial fishermen's problems resulting from it is to render a public disservice by taking altogether too narrow a view of a huge, complex problem. We are mindful that when the government tried to deal with a situation of farm surplus it compensated the farmers who cooperated in the remedy.

The situation here isn't fully analogous, but it is another instance of government stepping forcefully into resource management, and while a shrinkage of the commercial fishing fleet seems inevitable and limited entry (permit and quota) fishing imperative, there still remains a need for some kind of rescue operations to keep the commercial fish boats afloat until they can be put back to work more productively.

Our fear is that the Conservation Department's stance in the restoration program will send the commercial fishermen to the Legislature for remedy that will set the fishery restoration program back for years. If the Legislature undertakes to decide which fish belong to the lake in gillnets and which to the chums with flyrods, the Conservation Department is going to be gilled and the public interest is going to suffer.

Red China Generals Don't All Back Mao

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—This reporter's contacts in Hong Kong, Seoul and Tokyo have compiled some startling data on the Red Chinese army.

The bits and pieces these informants have collected add up to a virtual certainty that Mao Tse-tung's military forces are in no position at all to move strongly into the Vietnam war. The data suggests Mao's armies could not be made into a unified fighting force unless Red China itself were invaded.

The reports include individual data on 311 regional and provincial commanders, their deputies and political commissars. Data is included on which of these men have sided with Mao and those who have sided against him or stayed neutral.

In the gigantic struggle now going on within Red China, Mao and his deputy, Lin Piao, have put heavy pressure on the army commanders to voice their support.

Nevertheless, the astonishing fact is that of the 311 officers on this list, only 47 have voiced their support of Mao. Less than 10 per cent of the key officers in this group—Communist China's provincial military commanders—have come out for Mao and Lin. The rest are either in opposition or are holding back to see which way the wind will blow.

Lin Piao has in progress a thorough purge of the army, navy and air force. A listing of those men who have been ousted in Communist China's "Pentagon" indicates the purge has been deep.

The countryside is a different matter. Though Lin has ordered the removal of scores of higher officers in the provinces the evidence is that these purges are largely paper shuffling. Most of the purged officers have defied Mao and Lin and have refused to be ousted from their posts. These men are safe in most cases—so long as their fellow officers and troops stick with them—provided, of course, Mao and Lin are unable to send in superior forces.

In a good many instances, the top regional and provincial officers and their deputies have been in command of their units for many years. Their junior officers and noncommissioned officers are their men, appointed by them and loyal to them.

Thus, in a considerable number of places, there appear to be two sets of officers—those ordered by Lin to take over and those actually in command. To Mao and Lin and to their opponents as well control of mainland China is more important than what's happening in Vietnam. Chinese army officers have learned the hard way that when their armies are committed to battle, and they lose men and arms, they thereby lose the military power to hold their own in Red China's political battles.

Therefore, while China's internal struggle continues, each general will want to conserve his troops and his arms in order to protect his own position.

The situation is not like the Korean war, where the Red generals saw a chance to make themselves reputations that would help them up the power ladder.

Under the present circumstances, some of these Red Chinese generals might be ripe for a quiet approach from outside by men who could furnish them money and arms to enable them to better hold their own against Mao and Lin.

Check History Textbooks For Ethnic Fairness

LANSING (AP)—American history textbooks used in Michigan schools will be reviewed this fall for representation of minority group accomplishments, it has been announced.

This marks the beginning of appraisals by the State Advisory Committee on Social Studies Textbooks to determine the accuracy and adequacy of racial and ethnic group representations in the books, said Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction.

Polley said the review will be undertaken in compliance with a 1966 state law which requires public and private schools to consider which social studies textbooks fairly recognize achievements of minority groups.

The law also calls for a random survey and financial report to the Legislature on what progress is made.

The committee also plans to survey books in civics, economics, geography, government, world history, sociology and psychology.

Chris Farrand of my staff said that you wanted to know if the Coast Guard could establish a satellite station in Escanaba which could process and certify seamen's papers, so that ore boats could pick up additional crew there. Presently, seamen have to go to Milwaukee to have their papers processed.

The Coast Guard informed me that such a station would not be feasible for the following reasons:

1. The men who run the light house - rescue station there are not qualified to do processing and certification.

2. There is presently not enough volume of traffic through Escanaba to warrant this added expense.

3. The rather simple process of certification is not all that is involved. There would have to be some sort of public health service set up.

4. It is not necessary for the seamen to go all the way to Milwaukee. They need only travel as far as St. Ignace, 145 miles away, in order to complete the entire process of certification. Their papers can be mailed from there to Escanaba, so only a short time would elapse, and only one trip would be necessary.

COMMEDED

I would like to commend Dr. A. Gossan on his letter to the Press in Monday's paper. This proves that people are interested in the hot lunch program or a swimming pool. The way I see Dr. Gossan's idea is we would be diving from a hot stove into a pool of cool water. But we must remember one thing: that water will not wash away the $8,000 deficit that we are in, meaning the hot lunch program.

I would like to make a suggestion. Why not take the Bonifas funds and fix up the Bay de Noc College to meet the standards of a safe building. Education, I think, is as important as taking a bath. If we cannot explain to our high school children a simple arithmetic problem where the $8,000 deficit in the hot lunch program is, then how can we, as parents, force them to do homework when the school board can't figure this problem out or comment on it.

But after all, if water is educational I'm all for it. Then let's give the school board a good scrubbing.

As I'm writing this, Walter Kronkite is on the TV News, and just reported that the president of the United States has just asked Congress for $2 million for Asia to build schools and a road. It wouldn't hurt to throw some of the members of Congress into the same school also.

Dear Ann Landers: About the worst thing that can happen to a guy has happened to me. Not once, but twice. I am 17 years old and two girls I have been going with have told me within the last week that they are pregnant. One girl is 16, a real sweet kid (but very dumb), and nobody I would want to spend the rest of my life with. The other girl is 19, has been around a lot and while I have taken her out several times, so have 50 other guys.

I have one year of high school left so don't suggest marriage to the sweet kid because I wouldn't think of it. And please don't tell me to talk to my folks because my mother would have a heart attack and my dad would kill me. I used to think your column was square but I am beginning to believe your advice makes a lot of sense. Please tell me what to do because I'm fading fast.—DUBBLE TRUBBLE

Dear D.T.: Your parents are going to know about this—either from you or from the parents of one or both girls. I believe it would be better if you told them.

I am not suggesting marriage, but I am suggesting that you learn what your legal responsibilities are and live up to them. I hope this letter shakes up a few thousand guys out there who are playing games with live bombshells. How about paying some attention to my square advice, fellas?

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you have room in your column for a lesson that might help some of your readers make a decision. It has to do with relatives in business.

Several years ago my husband and his brother went to work for their father. It was a good business, but there was so much in-fighting and aggravation that my husband decided it wasn't worth it. When my husband announced he was quitting to start a business of his own, everyone said, "You're a fool. You'll regret it. Your brother will inherit everything."

Well, they were half right. His brother DID inherit everything—ulcers, migraine headaches and a nervous condition of the eyes. My sister-in-law has told me 50 times that she wished her husband had quit when mine did. The old man has become more tyrannical and utterly impossible through the years. Even though he will soon be 69 he has made it clear that he intends to run the business till they carry him off on a stretcher. I think they will carry off his son first.

My husband and I have not had an easy time but we are comfortable and happy. We enjoy good health and life is fun. I don't know where we got the courage and the good sense to get out when we did, but I thank God for it.—MR. AND MRS. CONTENT

Tour Group Asks $14 Million For Alewife Problem

SOUTH HAVEN (AP)—The West Michigan Tourist Association, at its golden anniversary meeting, adopted a four-point program aimed at correcting the alewife problem affecting tourist business.

The resolution called for allocation of $14 million to the Department of Conservation for development of hatcheries to raise predator fish which feed on the alewife. It also called for $100,000 state promotional program to keep the public informed during the early summer months of the alewife plague.

The association voted to back uniform Monday holidays and additional resort liquor licenses but tabled a resolution which would have asked legislative approval of Sunday liquor sales "subject to local option."

The association accepted a bid from Boyne Highlands for the 1968 convention Oct. 1-3.

Survivors include his widow, one daughter and one son; six sisters, Mrs. Edward (Edna) Ryan and Mrs. Joseph (Esther) Little of Escanaba, Mrs. Fred (Beulah) LaChance of Detroit, Mrs. William (Elsie) Green of Sheboygan, Wis., Mrs. Thomas (Margaret) Liston of Eagle River, Wis., and Mrs. Lavern Davis of Land O Lakes; one brother, Gordon Hazen of Land O Lakes.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday by Rev. Babcock at the Eagle River Funeral Home. Military rites were also conducted and burial was in the Land O Lakes Cemetery.

Jacobetti Will Be Honored At Dinner At NMU

A testimonial dinner for State Rep. D. J. Jacobetti (D-Negavine) is announced by Mrs. Virginia Selin and Ernest Ronn, co-chairmen, at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11 in the student center, Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

"Many friends of Rep. Jacobetti have requested that a testimonial dinner be given in his behalf because, during his tenure in the Michigan Legislature, he has devoted his time and energy in behalf of programs that benefited the State and, in particular, the Upper Peninsula," said Ronn. "Rep. Jacobetti has concerned himself with full employment programs for his district and has spent unlimited time in behalf of children and proper educational facilities for our youth."

Swimming Pool:

Council May Ask Vote On Funding

The question of putting to a vote a proposition to raise approximately $204,000 in city taxes to finance the construction of a swimming pool is scheduled to come before the City Council at its meeting to be held in the City Hall on Thursday, Oct. 5, at 8 p.m.

The Council at a previous meeting asked City Manager George Harvey to have the proposed ballot on the agenda for the Oct. 5 session.

The Council will consider the setting of a date for the proposed special election. The resolution, which may be altered by the Council, proposes "an election to be held in the City of Escanaba for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors thereof the question of levying of 2 mills for a three-year period to finance the construction of an indoor swimming pool."

The city manager noted that the millage rate and the number of years it would be in effect could be set by the Council as it deems most advisable.

The amount necessary to be raised, however, would be the same—approximately $204,000 from special levy for the pool, plus about $20,000 that could be allocated from the budget over a two-year period.

Total cost of the proposed swimming pool is estimated at $225,000.

The Council in discussion at the last meeting indicated it does not care to delay the construction of a community center at the city water tower site because of discussions about a pool. It approved asking for bids for the construction of the center, to be financed from Catherine Bonifas funds, and will seek to determine if the people want also the addition of a pool to be financed by special levy.

The City Council will have before it on Thursday night other business including:

Opening of bids for rock salt for ice control on streets; first reading of the proposed Housing Code; consideration of a resolution endorsing legislation for additional moneys for highway purposes.

Consideration of a resolution to the Legislature requesting an amendment to the State Planning Act to provide for a simple majority rather than a two-third majority to override a Planning Commission.

Appointment of administrative and employee delegates as well as alternate delegates to the annual meeting of the Municipal Employees Retirement System.

First reading of an ordinance to amend the appropriation ordinance; and request for authorization to acquire properties for a new access road to the new airport terminal.

Rooming House Permit Needed Under New Code

Escanaba's proposed Housing Code is equipped to bring to the community an up-dating of housing that may be inadequate by modern standards.

So that all residents of the city will be fully informed on the provisions of the Housing Code, the City Council and city administration ask the public to read and study the proposed Code as it is published in the Daily Press section by section.

The Council will give the Housing Code a first reading on Thursday, Oct. 5; and the second reading, public hearing and adoption are scheduled on Thursday, Nov. 2.

Sections 5, 6 and 7 are covered in today's publication. Readers are asked to clip and save the advertisements, which began on Thursday, so they will have the complete text with the ending of the series on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

The three sections covered today in summary:

Section 5. General Requirements Relating to the Safe and Sanitary Maintenance of Parts of Dwellings and Dwelling Units.

Dwellings, whether occupied by the owner or rented, must have floors, walls, ceilings and roofs that are "reasonably weathertight" and kept in good repair. Windows must be weathertight, in working condition and repair.

Stairs and porches must be safe and kept so; plumbing must be properly installed and maintained; bathrooms must have floors that may be easily kept clean and in a sanitary condition.

No utility or other service required for dwellings under the ordinance may be shut off or removed except for the purpose of repairs. Dwelling owners may not occupy nor let others occupy "any vacant dwelling unless it is clean, sanitary, and fit for human occupancy."

Section 6. Minimum Space, Use and Location Requirements.

Every dwelling unit must have at least 150 square feet of floor space for the first occupant and at least 100 additional square feet for each additional occupant.

Bedrooms for one occupant must have at least 65 square feet of floor space; with 30 additional square feet for each additional occupant.

New White Pine Road Construction Bids Accepted

IRON MOUNTAIN—A joint bid of $2,593,665 by the Bacco Construction Co. of Iron Mountain and the Prokosh Construction Co. of Iron River has been accepted by the Ontonagon County Road Commission to build 12.5 miles of bituminous highway leading to the White Pine plant.

Known as the Toltree Rd., the new highway will be an access route for White Pine employees to the new shaft under construction. Work on the road will begin next week. Target for completion in August, 1969.

Construction of the new highway was made possible by grants of $1.4 million from the Economic Development Administration and another $1.4 million from the Michigan Highway Dept.

Room arrangement must be such that it is not necessary to go through another bedroom to have access to a bathroom or water closet, nor to go through one bedroom to reach another.

Room in cellars and basements must meet code requirements before they may be considered habitable.

Section 7. Responsibilities of Owners and Occupants.

Occupants must keep "in a clean and sanitary condition" the premises he occupies.

Owners of rented dwellings containing more than two dwelling units must furnish containers required for the storage and disposal of garbage. In other cases the occupant must provide the containers.

The code also spells out the responsibilities of the owners and the occupants of dwellings in control of rats and other pests.

HOUSING ORDINANCE REGULATING SUPPLIED FACILITIES, MAINTENANCE, AND OCCUPANCY OF DWELLINGS AND DWELLING UNITS

AN ORDINANCE establishing minimum standards governing the condition and maintenance of dwellings; establishing minimum standards governing supplied utilities and facilities and other physical things and conditions essential to make dwellings safe, sanitary, and fit for human habitation; establishing minimum standards governing the condition of dwellings offered for rent; fixing certain responsibilities and duties of owners and occupants of dwellings; authorizing the inspection of dwellings, and the condemnation of dwellings unfit for human habitation; and fixing penalties for violations.

WHEREAS, in the City of Escanaba, there are, or may in the future be, dwelling structures which are so dilapidated, unsafe, dangerous, unhygienic, or insanitary as to constitute a menace to the health and/or safety of the people of this City of Escanaba:

BE IT THEREFORE ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Escanaba, as follows:

SECTION 5. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO THE SAFE AND SANITARY MAINTENANCE OF PARTS OF DWELLING AND DWELLING UNITS

No person shall occupy as owner-occupant or let to another for occupancy for the purpose of living therein, any dwelling or dwelling unit which does not comply with the following requirements:

- 5.1 Every foundation, floor, wall, ceiling, and roof shall be reasonably weather-tight, and rodent-proof; shall be capable of affording privacy; and shall be kept in good repair.
- 5.2 Every window, exterior door, and basement hatchway shall be reasonably weathertight, water-tight, and rodentproof; and shall be kept in sound working condition and good repair.
- 5.3 Every inside and outside staircase, every porch, and every appurtenance thereto shall be so constructed as to be safe to use and capable of supporting the load that normal use may cause to be placed thereon; and shall be kept in sound condition and good repair.
- 5.4 Every plumbing fixture and water and waste pipe shall be properly installed and maintained in good and sanitary working condition, free from defects, leaks, and obstructions.
- 5.5 Every water closet compartment floor surface and bathroom floor surface shall be constructed and maintained so as to be reasonably impervious to water and so as to permit such floor to be easily kept in a clean and sanitary condition.
- 5.6 Every supplied facility, piece of equipment, or utility which is required under this ordinance shall be so constructed or installed that it will function safely and effectively, and shall be maintained in satisfactory working condition.
- 5.7 No owner, operator, or occupant shall cause any service, facility, equipment or utility which is required under this ordinance to be removed from or shut off from or discontinued for any occupied dwelling let or occupied by him, except for such temporary interruption as may be necessary while actual repairs or alterations are in progress, or during temporary emergencies when discontinuance of service is approved by the Authorized Inspector.
- 5.8 No owner shall occupy or let to any other occupant any vacant dwelling unit unless it is clean, sanitary, and fit for human occupancy.

SECTION 6. MINIMUM SPACE, USE AND LOCATION REQUIREMENTS

No person shall occupy or let to another for occupancy any dwelling or dwelling unit, for the purpose of living therein, which does not comply with the following requirements:

- 6.1 Every dwelling unit shall contain at least 150 square feet of floor space for the first occupant thereof and at least 100 additional square feet of floor space for every additional occupant thereof, the floor space to be calculated on the basis of total habitable room area.
- 6.2 In every dwelling unit of two or more rooms, every room occupied for sleeping purposes by one occupant shall contain at least 65 square feet of floor space, and every room occupied for sleeping purposes by more than one occupant shall contain at least 30 additional square feet of floor space for each additional occupant thereof.
- 6.3 No dwelling or dwelling unit containing two or more sleeping rooms shall have such room arrangements that access to a bathroom or water closet compartment intended for use by occupants of more than one sleeping room can be had only by going through another sleeping room; nor shall room arrangements be such that access to a sleeping room can be had only by going through another sleeping room or a bathroom or water closet compartment.
- 6.4 At least one-half of the floor area of every habitable room shall have a ceiling height of at least seven feet, and the floor area of that part of any room where the ceiling height is less than five feet shall not be considered as part of the floor area in computing the total floor area of the room for the purpose of determining the maximum permissible occupancy thereof.
- 6.5 No cellar or basement space shall be used as a habitable room or dwelling unit unless it meets the requirements of this code for habitable rooms or dwelling units, and shall have adequate humidity control and be approved by the Authorized Inspector.

SECTION 7. RESPONSIBILITIES OF OWNERS AND OCCUPANTS

- 7.1 Every owner of a dwelling containing two or more dwelling units shall be responsible for maintaining in a clean and sanitary condition the shared or public area of the dwelling and premises thereof.
- 7.2 Every occupant of a dwelling or dwelling unit shall keep in a clean and sanitary condition that part of the dwelling, dwelling unit, and premises thereof which he occupies and controls.
- 7.3 Every occupant of a dwelling or a dwelling unit shall dispose of all his rubbish in a clean and sanitary manner by placing it in the rubbish containers required by Subsection 3.6 of this ordinance.
- 7.4 Every occupant of a dwelling or a dwelling unit shall dispose of all his garbage and any other organic waste in a clean and sanitary manner, by placing it in the garbage disposal facilities or garbage storage containers required by Subsection 3.7 of this ordinance. It shall be the responsibility of the owner to supply such facilities or containers for all dwelling units in a dwelling containing more than two dwelling units which share the same premises. In all other cases it shall be the responsibility of the occupant to furnish such facilities or containers.
- 7.5 Every occupant of a dwelling or dwelling unit shall be responsible for hanging all screens and double doors and windows whenever the same are required under the provisions of this ordinance or any rule or regulation adopted or pursuant thereto, except where the owner has agreed to supply such service.
- 7.6 Every occupant of a dwelling containing a single dwelling unit shall be responsible for the extermination of any insects, rodents, or other pests therein or on the premises; and every occupant of a dwelling containing more than one dwelling unit shall be responsible for such extermination whenever his dwelling unit is the only one infested. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this Subsection, whenever infestation is caused by failure of the owner to maintain a dwelling in a ratproof or reasonable insectproof condition, extermination shall be the responsibility of the owner. Whenever infestation exists in two or more of the dwelling units in any dwelling or in the shared or public parts of any dwelling containing two or more dwelling units, extermination thereof shall be the responsibility of the owner.
- 7.7 Every occupant of a dwelling unit shall keep all plumbing fixtures therein in a clean and sanitary condition and shall be responsible for the exercise of reasonable care in the proper use and operation thereof.

(This HOUSING ORDINANCE will be continued in the ESCANABA DAILY PRESS on Monday, October 2, 1967, commencing with SECTION 8: ROOMING HOUSES)

LEARNING FOR LIVING

These Merchants And Businessmen Take This Opportunity To Publicly Pay Tribute To Our Local 4-H Clubs And Their Members And Bring To The Attention Of The Public Recognition Of National 4-H Club Week And The Need For The Continuation Of The 4-H Program.

Dear Parents:

Young people join 4-H to belong, to do things with friends, to have fun, to be somebody . . . and to succeed. Success depends on the understanding and support of parents.

Parental approval is a basic need of young people. This is what you demonstrate when you take part in your child's 4-H activities. He feels that you consider him important when you assist with his club projects. Here are some ways you can show your support:

1. Co-operate in furnishing transportation for your child and other 4-H members. Volunteer — don't wait to be asked.
2. Keep informed of 4-H news. Attend special 4-H events.
3. Visit with the 4-H leader about ways in which you could help. Your local leader has volunteered his services. Your co-operation makes him more effective.
4. Volunteer as a leader yourself. Your knowledge and skills are needed in 4-H. All the help necessary to get started will be furnished. Contact the M. S. U. Extension Office at 786-3032 or any local 4-H leader.

I am sure you will gain as much as the 4-H members that you lead.

Sincerely,

Max Collins

4-H YOUTH PROGRAMS

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE—
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Young people are asking: "Who am I as a person?"
"Where do I fit in?" "How does this complex, changing, challenging world affect me?"

Through 4-H—Youth programs, the Cooperative Extension Service is helping them find the answers. They use the newest educational approaches to help young people know themselves and prepare for their future. Many Extension youth programs are those young people themselves have requested — in career exploration, decision-making, science, public and international affairs. Learning experiences and leadership training are an integral part of every Extension program.

Extension youth programs continue to change to keep pace with space-age demands. Besides the well-known 4-H Clubs, Extension works with many special interest groups, schools, churches, and other youth agencies to reach and serve Michigan young people.

We Urge All Parents To Investigate The Many Fine Opportunities Available To You And Our Young People In 4-H Club Work. We Express Our Admiration For The Fine Work Our 4-H Clubs Are Doing And Particularly The Contributions To Our Recent Upper Peninsula State Fair At Escanaba.

MANISTIQUE

Lunch Changes Recommended

The Manistique Board of Education has decided to reinstate the school lunch program on a trial basis for a limited period of time.

The resolution was based upon interest of citizens, a reasonable assurance of parent cooperation and help and survey work done by several PTAs.

James Burroughs, supervisor for the school lunch program for the state met with members of the board Wednesday and discussed the possibility of reinstating the program. The board acted at a special meeting Thursday.

Burroughs reviewed 66-67 records and visited facilities with Robert Kanerva, business manager and Ralph Gillam, board member. Burroughs recommended that purchasing for the school lunch program be centered in the central administrative offices, that labor to provide the number of lunches currently considered be cut approximately in half, that Central school kitchen be disbanded, that lunches be prepared and transported from Fairview school for Central.

He indicated that to implement re-establishment of the program with the recommended changes, the state office would arrange to provide a September allotment of commodities and that additional reimbursement rate would be allowed for the trial period. Specific dates for the beginning were not determined.

With pride, we salute our local 4-H Club members, for their efforts and achievements. Through their Head...Heart...Hands...Health program, they are learning better ways of farming and homemaking, better ways of working together, better citizenship for a brighter tomorrow. We take pleasure in congratulating our 4-H boys and girls, and wish them the best of success in all their projects.

4-H...

Tomorrow's Leaders...Today!

Extension youth programs center around the development of young people. (Citizenship begins with the home and family and extends to the world of nations. Young people participate in county and state exchanges, citizenship short courses, human relations training, and international programs. Michigan families host young men and women from other countries.

Your Manistique Banks are proud to congratulate the 4-H Club members and their leaders. The 4-H leaders are all dedicated people who continue to give up much of their own valuable time and efforts, year after year, to enable these youngsters to continue this leadership and citizenship program. Along with the 4-H members... we very proudly salute our local 4-H Leaders!

4-H... For Tomorrow's Leaders... Today!

In Michigan, 4-H Club work is the major phase of Extension youth programs. The 4-H program is designed for young people between 9 and 18 years of age. They elect their own officers, conduct meetings, and work together. Young people benefit by both planning and evaluating their own projects and activities under the guidance of parents and volunteer leaders.

4-H training prepares our youth for better jobs, better farming and better homemaking careers... for better ways of working together... for being better Americans! Lend your support to this great program and to its more than 350 participants in the Schoolcraft area. Help present a "WORLD OF OPPORTUNITY" to these young people. Assist the 4-H program whenever possible.

Promotion Sunday At Calvary Church

The Sunday Bible School of the Calvary Baptist Church will observe its annual promotion program Sunday at 9:45 a. m. Bible School teachers have been reappointed for another school year. The children will move ahead to new classes and will receive certificates of promotion on Sunday morning.

The school, under the direction of Eugene Slagstad, has also entered an attendance contest with the following Baptist Churches: Fox River Baptist Church of Appleton, Wis., Grace Baptist Church, Gladstone, Bethel Baptist Church of Marquette, and the Ogema Baptist Church, Ogema, Wis.

The school features four adult classes. These classes will meet for Bible study each Sunday morning and will also enjoy social fellowship.

Birthday Party

Barbara Ann Lameburg celebrated her 7th birthday Wednesday at her home. The party was given by her sister Liz and a girl friend, Mary Sue Lameburg.

The birthday cake was made by her sister, Mrs. Vernon (Sharon) Cook. Games were played and a birthday lunch was served.

Guests included Pammy and Brian Marcotte, Judy and Becky Gersich, Kelly Keane, Kathy Nelson, Robin Scheffer, Peri Reese, Janice Marenger, Linda, Bonnie and Christine Grabowski and Connie, Jim and Brian Robitaille.

Church Events

First Methodist

First Presbyterian
Monday, Oct. 2, 1:30 p.m. — Deacons will meet at the church; 4 p.m. — Choral Choir will rehearse.

St. Stephen's Episcopal
The Afternoon Group of the Women of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the guild hall. Hostesses will be Mrs. C. H. Bisbee and Mrs. Nancy Thomas.

Something different and delicious: piping-hot chile con carne served over rice and topped with tiny butter-browned cubes of bread.

Mrs. Donald Stangel (Lee's Studio)

Sharon A. Chouinard, Donald Stangel Wed

Miss Sharon Ann Chouinard of Rte. 1 Gladstone and Donald Stangel of Two Rivers, Wis. exchanged marriage vows during a ceremony at 2 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 17 at Holy Family Church in Flat Rock.

Bouquets of gladiolus adorned the church altars as the Rev. Thomas Andary heard the solemn exchange of vows. Soloists for the service were Jack Gascon and Miss Joann Steff. Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. Russell Sargent.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chouinard of Flat Rock and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stangel of Two Rivers.

Honor Maid

Miss Karen Rademacher of Kaukauna, Wis., was honor maid for the bride and bridesmaids were Miss Rose Ann Maria of Neenah and Miss Carol Koehne of Manitowoc.

Claude Stangel of Two Rivers served as bestman for his brother and Barry Stangel, another brother and Leslie Mangin of Green Bay were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Raymond Chouinard of Flat Rock and Alan Stangel of Two Rivers. The bride's sister, Terri Lyn Chouinard and her niece, Mary Kay Gascon of Escanaba Rte. 1 were flower girls and her nephew, Steven Chouinard of Flat Rock, carried the rings.

Skimmer Gown

The bride's white bridal epe sheath skimmer gown was accented with imported Venise lace and a chapel length train was attached at the back neckline.

Petals of peau and tiny appliques of Venise lace held her bouffant elbow-length veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow garnet roses with feathered carnations and ivy foliage.

The bridal attendants wore identical willow green dresses with lace bodices and epe sheath skirts. Small matching bows held their wisp veils and they carried cascades of fall leaves in shades of yellow and deep rust.

The wedding dinner reception and dance were held at Marco's Starlight Room and the couple left for a two week honeymoon trip through Northern Wisconsin and Canada. Upon their return they will reside in Two Rivers.

The bride is a graduate of Holy Name High School and Holy Family School of Nursing, Manitowoc. She has been employed as a registered nurse at Holy Family Hospital.

Mr. Stangel, a graduate of Washington High School, Two Rivers, is a grocery buyer at Stangel's Super Valu in Two Rivers.

Honored Guests

Honored guests at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Dorothy Chouinard of Escanaba and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bussineau of Flat Rock and Mrs. George Stangel of Two Rivers, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ristow of Menasha, Sister Robert Marie and Sister Leocadia of Manitowoc, James Chouinard of Vietnam, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stangel, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stangel and Mr. and Mrs. George Stangel, Two Rivers.

Sister's Shower At St. Thomas

St. Thomas Guild will hold a Sister's Shower in the St. Thomas Hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Cards will be played with prizes for each table. All women of the parish are invited.

Mrs. Gerald Bergeon and Mrs. Wilfred Doucette are chairmen. Committee members are the Mesdames Phil La-Marene, Ed Gouin, Henry Richer, Herman Filion, Ernest Benoit, Norman Boucher, Steve Franco, Ralph Frasier, Harlan Hanson, Bernard LaPlante, Kermit Prey, Francis Brazeau, Romeo LaCasse, William Menard, Sadie LeBlanc and Wilfred Pepin.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

To save on our budget and when we don't have time to take our small boys to the barber, we trim their hair above their ears so they will look nice for a special occasion. This partial trim looks fine until we can get them to the barber for regular hair cuts.

Being afraid of poking them with the sharp points of the scissors, I found that wrapping each point with adhesive tape does away with the danger of sticking the child while trimming his hair.

Mother Of Two Boys

Dear Heloise:

A few years ago, while brushing my teeth, I noticed that that last trace of lipstick, which is so hard to remove, had disappeared.

Now I use toothpaste all the time to remove lipstick from my lips. It also tastes good, too.

Recently when my two-year-old came in with lipstick all over her face, I had the answer. I put a dab of toothpaste on a wash cloth and the lipstick was gone in seconds with no painful scrubbing on my baby's tender skin.

Marti Holis

Dear Marti:

I can't figure out why in the world this works but it does. I put lipstick on the back of my hand and then rubbed it with some toothpaste and it came right off. After all, if it's tender enough for gums, it shouldn't hurt our skin.

Thank you, not only me, but all our mothers who have little kiddies who get into our lipstick.

Dear Heloise:

When framing pictures I always glued paper to the back of the framed picture.

Now I have found that adhesive-backed plastic paper makes a perfect backing and gives you a choice of colors.

Alma Borchert

Dear Heloise:

Another place to check for refrigerator odors is the drip pan at the bottom of your refrigerator. This usually fits under the motor.

We had an odor in our refrigerator all summer, and finally found out we had an accumulation in this little pan. A paper milk carton had leaked and we had scrubbed everywhere except this drip pan.

Mrs. M. B. L.

And you are, oh, so right. Many people do not even know that this pan must be cleaned from time to time.

Thanks a million.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use shampoos and creme rinses that come in pliable plastic containers. After the tube is empty, I find there is usually enough lotion clinging to the sides for two more shampoos!

Rather than slowly squeeze the lotion out through the tiny opening, I take my scissors and snip the container through the middle, use what I need and then stick the top half into the lower half until the next shampoo.

Of course, the container is shorter, but it will not slip open. There is no waste at all.

On the following shampoo, open the container, put it in a glass and pour hot water over it. Then let it sit a while.

This way you get out every iota of the contents, and it's enough for another shampoo.

Judy Rotella

Dear Heloise:

Coach Jerry Cvenegros has compiled a highly successful record in his six year tenure as head man of the Eskymo coaching staff. His griders have registered 33 victories against 11 defeats and 2 ties during that span. He has never had a losing season.

The Upper Peninsula's fastest runner is a halfback on a team that has won two games, lost one and tied one entering this week's action. However, he has scored only two touchdowns to date, both coming on relatively short runs of 10 yards. Karl Funke of L'Anse au Loup is new Upper Peninsula Class C records of 22.8 in the 220 yard dash and 10.2 in the 100 last spring. His two touchdown runs came in a 13-13 tie with Calumet and a 19-0 victory over Houghton. L'Anse also owns a 7-0 victory over Ontonagon and was upset two weeks ago by Gwinn, 13-9.

The first 3000 bowling ever registered in league play at the Iron Mountain Recreation Lanes was turned in this week by McGregor's Insurance team, composed of George Wentarmini, Pete Tomassoni, Charles Raboin, Wally Romagnoli and Charles Syrjanen. They crashed 3,023 pins with Raboin hitting a 633 series to set the pace.

Latest Upper Peninsula grid standout sidelined by injury is Greg Eckhart of Calumet who will miss the remainder of the season because of a broken collarbone. Eckhart, an end, was the Upper Peninsula Class C quarter-mile champion in track last spring.

Doelle has put together 13 straight victories over two seas on in the Mid-Peninsula high school baseball league. The Spartans extended their streak this week with a 6-1 verdict over Chassell as Tom Saarala turned in a no-hit pitching performance while striking out 14 batsmen.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has changed the regulation covering the cost of an award for high school athletes. The cost or maximum value of a medal, ribbon, badge, plaque, cup, banner, picture or ring has been increased from $3 to $5. The regulation still provides, however, that no other award, regardless of its cost, may be given to any athlete.

Brian Burbey, former outstanding Niagara high school athlete, is off and running for Oshkosh State University this fall. The sophomore halfback scored two touchdowns as Oshkosh whipped Eau Claire, 33-7. He's one of the leading runners in the Wisconsin State University Conference.

Dangerous Duo Strikes For Three TDs

Emerald Aerial Blitz Rips Gladstone 33-0

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Emeralds' dangerous duo caught up with Gladstone here Friday night and hammered the Braves, 33-0, in a Great Lakes Conference contest.

AMY OLSON, Manistique Homecoming queen, is crowned by Ron Soukup at pre-game ceremonies Friday night. Soukup, a senior fullback, has been lost for the remainder of the season with a broken arm. to a short game last night. The 6 foot, 180 pound senior clicked on 12 of 23 tosses for 164 yards, three touchdowns and two extra points.

Sample Scores Three
Sample, long limbed senior with sticky mitts, hauled in 10 of Cowman's aerials for 128 yards and the three touchdowns. Halfback Larry Roberts grabbed three for 36 yards.

After Cowman and Sample had hooked up for three TD's, the Emeralds changed their tactics and sent Roberts and reserve quarterback Paul Demers on long distance touchdown jaunts in the final minutes of the game.

It took a peak performance for Manistique to get past Coach Don Potenbauer's hard-hitting Braves who carried an impressive 3-1 record into the battle.

Gladstone battled the Emeralds to a 0-0 standoff in the first quarter and had Manistique deep in its own territory in the late minutes of the half, only to have Cowman pitch to Sample for a 70 yard gainer. Sample swivel-hipped his way through defenders and was headed for paydirt when Gladstone's Bob Carlson caught him on the Brave second yard line.

Last-Seven TD
On the next play Cowman whipped a strike to Sample in the end zone to give the Emeralds a 6-0 lead with 28 seconds remaining in the half.

The Braves, who had threatened after a blocked punt early in the game, drove into Emerald territory again early in the third period but gave up the ball on downs.

The Emeralds then drove 59 yards in eight plays with Roberts and Bob Males carrying the ball to the one yard line from where Cowman flipped to Sample for the TD. The 12-0 margin stood up until the final three and a half minutes of the game.

Three Quick Scores
Cowman riddled the Gladstone defense with short passes to move the Emeralds over midfield and into scoring territory. His final pitch was a 15 yarder to Cowman and the same combed added the extra point to make it 19-0.

After Mike Tufnell recovered a fumble on the Gladstone 36, Roberts ripped off tackle for another quick TD and Cowman's toss to Sample added the point for a 25-0 lead.

The final Emerald touchdown came when Demers went in for Cowman, who had been shaken up by a rugged tackle, and rambled 40 yards on a bootleg. Demers passed to Popour for the point, 33-0.

Manistique's defense paved the way to victory with rugged contact and alert air defense. The Emeralds hopped on three Gladstone fumbles and intercepted two passes.

Standouts on defense for Manistique were Sample, Paul Babladiels, Ole Sholander, Dave Carlson and Charles Richey.

Roberts was Manistique's top ground gainer with 81 yards while Males picked up 55, Demers 42, Keith Aldrich 9 and Terry Popour 7 for a 158 total.

Spearheading Gladstone's determined defense in the first half were Craig Johnson, Mike Laguna, Mike and Steve Maniaci and Jim Dehlin.

The Braves reeled off 115 yards rushing with Bob Carlson getting 67, Dan Gobert 37, Dan LaCrosse 11, Bill Johnson 6 and Peter Jarvis losing 6.

Jarvis completed 4 of 14 passes for 22 yards with Steve Nelson and Eric Trichel catching one each and Gobert two.

The Emerald will put their 4-1 record on the line at Holy Name Saturday while the Braves host Munising the same day.

Griffith Regains Crown From Nino

NEW YORK (AP)—Emile Griffith had the world middleweight title again today, Italy's Nino Benvenuti had bruised ribs, and Madison Square Garden might have a third fight between the two for its new 20,000-seat arena in February or March.

Griffith bloodied the handsome Italian's face and pounded his body in regaining the 160-pound division crown on a decisive, one knockdown, 15-round victory at misty, damp Shea Stadium Friday night.

Then the recrowned champion went to a victory party at a hotel near the ball park while the aching Italian went to Polyclinic Hospital to see whether he had suffered broken ribs in the defeat.

First reports from the hospital, where Nino was kept overnight for observation, was that he had suffered "contusions of the upper left abdomen."

Dr. Harry Kleiman of the New York Athletic Commission wanted to study the X rays before making a final report.

Benvenuti didn't talk to newsmen in the dressing room after his loss in his first defense. He was whisked to the hospital. His handlers said Nino's ribs were hurt in the third round of the rough fight and that he was in pain thereafter.

They were pleased when Harry Markson, the Garden's director of boxing, suggested the third and rubber bout for the magnificent new building. "It's okay with me," said the jubilant Griffith. "I'll fight him any time. Ten times in a row if they want it." I knew I could beat him if I fought my fight, I did."

Coffin Door Slams Shut On Chicago Walking Dead

By The Associated Press

The coffin slammed shut on the Walking Dead. And then there were three.

Eddie Stanky's tenacious Zombies, the Chicago White Sox, dropped out of the American League pennant struggle Friday night, succumbing meekly to Washington 1-0 on Phil Ortega's four-hitter.

Now it's up to Minnesota, or Boston, or Detroit to pick up the pieces. But all three were holding a cold hand and watching the weather today.

The Tigers, who have dropped two of their last three starts, were frozen out of a scheduled two-night doubleheader against California Friday night and now must beat the Angels four times in two days to assure themselves of a first-place tie.

If Detroit was all four, one Twins, one game in front despite two setbacks in their last three games, need to sweep their two-game set at Boston today and Sunday to nail a share of the top spot.

And the Red Sox, shocked twice by Cleveland earlier in the week, need nothing less than two victories over the Twins plus at least one Detroit loss to grab a piece of the pennant pie.

The New York Yankees beat Kansas City twice 4-3 and 1-0, in Friday's only other AL action. St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 3-1 in 11 innings, Philadelphia blasted San Francisco 9-1, Pittsburgh topped Houston 4-1, Chicago beat Cincinnati 4-1 and New York whipped Los Angeles 5-1 in National League games.

The White Sox' demise — they needed a three-game sweep over the Senators to stay alive — erased the possibility of a three-way playoff. A Tigers-Twins or Tigers-Red Sox deadlock, should it develop, would force a best-of-3 playoff beginning Monday, weather permitting.

The World Series is set to start Wednesday, if no playoff is necessary, or two days after the completion of the playoff.

"I don't want any flowers when I'm in the mortuary," Stanky said after his White Sox handed the Senators an unearned run in the first inning and then went out with their bats at half mast.

"All year long the elephants feared the mice. Well, they can have it all to themselves with a sigh of relief. We're out of it."

"But I wish we would have lost that one on a home run or a clean hit. I hate to lose on an error."

Fred Valentine's single delivered the run that finished the Sox in the first inning after errors by Tom McCraw and Don Buford opened the gate. Ortega's shutout pitching drove in the coffin nails, already set in place by the last-place Athletics, who swept a two-nighter from the Sox Wednesday.

"Don't ask me who I think is going to win it now," said Stanky, tears beginning to run down his cheeks. "I don't care."

Bill Bryan's sixth inning homer gave reliever Fred Talbot and the Yankees their nightcap victory over Kansas City after Mickey Mantle's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning of the opener broke a 3-3 deadlock.

The Cardinals pushed over two runs in the 11th, one on Mike Shannon's single and the second on Curt Flood's double, to squeeze past the Braves. Bob Gibson worked nine strong innings for the NL champions in a tune-up for the starting assignment in the Series opener.

Don Meredith tries to keep going. Bart Starr looks for a comeback and two of the more famous passing arms in the business, belonging to Johnny Unitas and Joe Namath, face severe tests in important pro football games Sunday.

Unitas, Baltimore's all-everything quarterback, takes his unbeaten Colt teammates against also-unbeaten San Francisco while Meredith and the Dallas Cowboys go against Los Angeles in another match of National Football League unbeaten.

Starr of Green Bay, subjected to a demoralizing nine interceptions in the Packers' first two games, tries to regain the form that made him the league's 1966 Most Valuable Player against winless Atlanta.

In the American League, Namath — who had his greatest day as a pro last week — takes his New York Jets against Miami in a struggle for the Eastern Division lead. Each team is 1-1. Kansas City and Oakland, home grounds with the Western lead at stake.

Both leagues have a full schedule, all Sunday afternoon. In addition to Los Angeles at Dallas and San Francisco at Baltimore, all unbeaten, the NFL offers Detroit, 1-0-1, at St. Louis, 1-1, Atlanta, 0-2, vs. Green Bay 1-0-1, at Milwaukee, Pittsburgh, 1-1, at Philadelphia, 1-1, New York, 1, at Washington, 1-1, Chicago, 0-2 at Minnesota, 0-2, and Cleveland, 0-2, at New Orleans, 0-2.

In the AFL, it's Kansas City at Oakland, San Diego, 2-0, at

In the AFL, it's Kansas City at Oakland, San Diego, 2-0, at Buffalo, 1-2, Miami at New York and the Redskins with a solid running game.

Gale Sayers appears to be back in form for the Bears, who looked less than spectacular in losing two straight. Joe Kapp, who passed for 157 yards in the second half of Minnesota's last game, could get his first start.

The Browns are in a must-win situation against the Saints if they are to be a title factor. They've lost two straight, but Leroy Kelly began to show some '66 form with a 141-yard rushing performance last week. The new Saints end a three-game home stand.

The key Kansas City-Oakland match shapes up as a defensive struggle, the Chiefs coming off a 21-0 shutout of Miami and the Raiders allowing only one touchdown in two games. Kansas City has a good one-two ground punch in Mike Garrett and Curt McClintock, with the Raiders relying on the passing of Darley Lamonica.

The Chargers have a healthy Lance Alworth back to plague the Bills, who have been unable to put together a sustained attack and suffered their first shutout in history last week.

Green Bay, expected to dominate the league again, this season, is still sputtering. The Packers hope to get untracked against the Falcons, who will be closing a three-game road trip.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, going into their 65th meeting, both lost last week after opening with peak performances. The Steelers were intercepted three times, lost three fumbles. The Eagles were intercepted four times.

New York and Washington set a flock of records the last time they played, the Redskins winning 72-41. Both look better this season, the Giants with Homer

SPORTS MEMORIES!

Highlights from the world of sports of a decade ago ... do you remember?

Last Week
September 1957

Doug Maskart and Mike Stemar combined their offensive and defensive talents as the Holy Name Crusaders dumped previously unbeaten St. Ignace, 25-6.

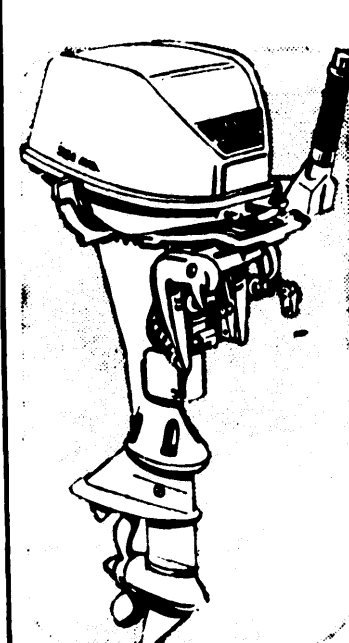

Max Peterson and Bill Adams helped Gladstone to a halftime 7-7 tie with unbeaten Marquette, but the Braves faltered in the second half to drop a 32-7 decision.

Emile Porath belted a 269 singleton enroute to a 649 series to lead the K. C. Men's Tuesday night league.

I. R. Peterson, playing in a foursome of Emile Desilets, Carl Friels and Dexter B-back canned his second shot for an eagle on the 360-yard No. 9 hole at the Highland Golf Club.

Any mail deposited after 5 p. m. will be dispatched the following day according to Anderson.

Gladstone, 'Stique Students Honored

ANN ARBOR — Some 2,200 students received degrees from the University of Michigan during its summer commencement ceremonies last month.

Upper Peninsula degree awardists included Sharon E. Swanson, 1302 Montana Ave., Gladstone, a Bachelor of Arts degree; and John A. Davidson, Route 1, Manistique, a Master of Science degree.

3½ Weeks' vitamin supply FREE!

The Buckeye PTA will meet in the Kindergarten room of the school Monday. A card party at 8 p. m. will follow the short business meeting.

State Police issued traffic summonses Friday to Randy J. Nelson, Rte. 1, Gladstone, no operator's license; Clarence E. Hillis, Marine City, Mich., improper passing; Robert P. Boyer, Rte. 1, Rapid River, unsafe start after a minor accident on Main St., Rapid River, in which Boyer backed into a car driven by Leonard Gustafson, Rte. 1, Rapid River, and Carl L. Glasure, 109 N. 2nd St., Wells, no registration or proof of insurance, after a minor accident on U. S. 2 and 41 about 2½ miles west of Escanaba.

Officers said Glasure's car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Len T. Dahl, 201 S. 23rd St., Escanaba. There were no injuries in either accident, troopers said.

A breaking and entering at a camp owned by Christian Ruppel, St. Joseph, Mich., is under investigation by State Police. Officers said the camp, located on the Escanaba River in Baldwin Township, was entered through the front door. It has not been determined whether anything is missing.

Quebec Police Seize Children

ST. JOVITE, Que. (AP)—Police who seized seven Plymouth, Mich., children from the monastery of a breakaway Roman Catholic sect near here said Thursday they were still searching for an eighth child.

They said the children, whom they had court orders to remove from the monastery, were of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bugasky and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Prystups, all of Plymouth, Mich. Both couples have been living in the monastery, they said.

The children ranged in age from 10 months to eight years. Authorities said they had been living at the monastery for two months. Crown Prosecutor Andre Fautex said their removal had been ordered after their grandparents had complained they were living in "moral and physical danger."

Sister Michelle, a spokeswoman at the Apostles of Infinite Love Monastery, about 70 miles northwest of Montreal, was asked about the eighth child, who was not turned up when police raided the monastery early Wednesday.

She said, "other children were here yesterday, but are not here now."

She said that the parents had tried to get back 10-month-old Adam Bugasky "because he is only a baby," but the Social Welfare Court told them the children already had been placed in foster homes.

A hearing is scheduled in two weeks to decide who will have custody of the children.

The sect already has been the subject of several Social Welfare Court investigations in connection with conditions for children at the monastery.

In February, 82 children were ordered into Welfare Court custody by Judge Prevost of St. Jerome. The children who were found were placed in foster homes. But members of the religious sect at the monastery reportedly housed most of the children in private homes.

The St. Joseph, Sociality meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church basement.

A joint meeting of American Legion and Ladies Auxiliary will be held Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 8 p. m. at the Perkins Legion Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Deputat attended the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mattson at Racine, Wis. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chenard of Milwaukee.

Loane Vailor of Gwynn visited Mrs. Odile Vailor recently.

Games Party
The Rock American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring a games party at the Rock Lions clubhouse on Tuesday, Oct. 3 at 8 p. m. Everyone is welcome and lunch will be served.

Attend Workshop
Mrs. Lauri Ranta and Mrs. Elmer Lajala, leaders of the West Rock 4-H club attended the Foods and Awards workshop at Iron Mountain Tuesday and Wednesday.

4-H Council Meet
Mrs. Anti Waak and Mrs. Albert Weldum, leaders of the Rock 4-H club attended the Delta County 4-H Council meeting at Escanaba, Thursday evening.

Back From Expo
James G. Haga, of Kipling, and LeRoy Butts, of Escanaba, have returned from a motor trip to Expo '67 and points East. Enroute they visited Milton Haga and family at Orangeton, the Bernard Mill family at Elmira, N. Y., and the Elmer Williamson family in Pontiac.

Card of Thanks

Langley

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our dear wife, daughter and mother, Viola Marie Langley. We are grateful to Rev. Father Elfinger for his comforting words, to the pallbearers, to those who sent flowers, spiritual bouquets, those who offered the use of their cars. Your kind acts will never be forgotten.

In Memoriam

LaFave

In loving memory of our dear Son, Brother and Father, Edward Donald LaFave who passed away 4 years ago on October 1, 1963.

Memories are treasures no one can steal. Death is a heartache no one can heal. Some may forget him, now that he is gone. But we will remember no matter how long.

Sadly Missed by Mother, Father, Brothers, Sisters, and Daughter, Cindy Lou

Mini Too Mini; Teacher Booted

DETROIT (AP)—A suburban Taylor Township grandmother who doesn't like miniskirts demonstrated her feelings forcefully here—by booting a 24-year-old art teacher at Brake Junior High School.

The target of the boot, pretty blonde Hope Palmer, was advised by the school superintendent to file an assault and battery charge.

The grandmother refused to divulge her name, but she had accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Atis Kalhins, and her granddaughter, Terry, 11, to school when she came upon miniskirted Miss Palmer.

"Hope was with part of her art class putting art objects into a display case. That's when the woman went up to her," said the superintendent, Simon Kachaterian.

The grandmother then went into the principal's office and stomped around the room with her dress pulled up to miniskirt length, Kachaterian said.

"She pulled her skirt up and said, 'How would you like it if I walked around like this?'" Kachaterian added.

He said that of about 800 teachers in the system, he believed Miss Palmer was the only one who wears a miniskirt.

"But she wears leotards under it," Kachaterian added.

He described Miss Palmer as one of the most "outstanding art teachers in the state" who has exhibited her work all over the country.

"I recommend the teacher file an assault and battery charge against this woman," he said. "There's a matter of teacher dress—but there's also a matter of propriety in actions by all adults."

Miss Palmer said she intended to continue to wear what she wanted.

"Why, if I wanted to wear a long skirt tomorrow, I'd have to borrow one from a friend."

Merger Of Banks Given Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board, in a 4-3 decision, announces it has approved the merger of Commercial State Bank, Roseville, Mich., into the Detroit Bank & Trust Co., Detroit's second-largest bank.

The board's majority said the consolidation would resolve management problems at the smaller bank and improve services in Roseville without any significant anticompetitive effect.

Coho Fever Brings Resort Area Cash

By DONALD L. KILTS

Saginaw News Writer

FRANKFORT (AP)—Coho fever means Coho dollars for the resort towns on northern Lake Michigan.

The impact of the new sport has been so great even those who planned for it can't believe it.

It's going to become even bigger when the Coho salmon's huge well-fed cousins, the Chinook, now being planted, start gulping lures in Lake Michigan.

Coho salmon, a State Conservation Department import from the West Coast, were planted in two streams in April 1966. A few were caught last year. Then, the Coho "arrived" this year. And with the salmon came fishermen—thousands of them—and dollars for a resort economy suffering from an unsuccessful summer season.

"It's been tremendous," says Tom Lewis, manager of the Manistee County Board of Commerce. "We were prepared for fishing, but not like this. All of a sudden we've got the biggest influx of tourists we've ever had at a time of the year when we've never had it."

Business Up 250 Per Cent. He said tourism and allied businesses have increased between 250 and 300 per cent.

"We anticipated that," says Larry Olson, president of the Benzie County Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce, "but we weren't prepared for it. It's way beyond anything we even dreamed of."

There are no rental boats available weekend.

On a recent weekend, a Conservation Department survey found an estimated 5,000 boats in the water between Manistee and Frankfort, ranging to eight or nine miles out. One thousand boats were put into the water in one day at Frankfort alone. There were an estimated 1,000 boats at one time off the mouth of the Platte River.

There will be some Chinook taken next year. The big impact will come, however, with the first spawning run in 1969.

Average 11 Pounds. The Coho runs a few inches short of a yard. Average catches are about 14 pounds, but some are as much as 21 pounds.

The Chinook grows to about 40 to 50 pounds on the West Coast, but because of the plentiful food in Lake Michigan, it is felt they may reach weights of 60 to 70 or as much as 80 pounds here.

Other areas on the northern lakes are interested in the Coho.

And the Conservation Department is interested, too, in spreading the fish around. There has been talk of feeding the fish into Saginaw Bay. Wisconsin is reportedly watching Michigan's salmon experiment with interest.

Aside from its dollars-and-cents boost to the resort economy, and the fact that it is an exciting sport fish, the Coho has still another happy attribute—it eats and thrives on alewives.

Alewife Disaster

The shadlike alewife was a disaster this year to the Lake Michigan resort business. The tons of dead alewives that washed ashore drove away vacationers.

According to Max Hinkel, publicity director of the West Michigan Tourist Association, the alewives cost the tourist and resort business more than $10 million dollar, about 10 per cent of its usual summer business.

The Coho has brought with it some other problems. One is the large numbers of small boats on often - treacherous Lake Michigan. Another is the possible pollution from dead salmon after the spawning run.

No one seems to think pollution will be serious, but 8 and 10-foot boats out on the lake could be deadly - again. The Coast Guard, by plane and boat, tries to keep an eye on the thousands of fishermen.

Manistee Board of Commerce's Tom Lewis says he would like, in the interests of safety, to see all boats out in the lake at least 16 feet long.

"You get two people out there in an 8 or 10-foot boat and it's just plain foolish," he says.

Teacher Strike Halts Building

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—

Construction on a new $12 million Lake Michigan College campus crunched to a halt here as construction workers refused to cross a picket line set up by striking teachers.

The teachers, members of the Michigan Federation of Teachers' Chapter 1775, UAW-CIO, picketed for several hours, leaving about 1 p.m. The new campus is six miles southeast of the present campus on the city's East Side.

Negotiations in the strike, which has idled some 3,500 students, have been stalemated since Monday. A hearing on union charges of unfair labor practices was postponed at the request of the college administration.

Meanwhile, teachers in Saginaw and St. Charles announced tentative agreement on new contracts with school boards. Both contracts are subject to ratification votes, but schools have been open in both districts.

The Saginaw agreement called for a pay scale ranging from $6,200 to $9,746 for teachers with a bachelor's degree. The old scale was $5,700 to $8,960.

In the Detroit suburb of Taylor Township, a class size agreement included in a school board contract settlement with teachers set off a furor among a group of parents, who picketed school board offices Thursday.

Mrs. Doris Denham, spokesman for the parents, said the dispute was over transferring students to new schools to fulfill the maximum class size requirement of no more than 32 students per teacher.

"I have four children going to three different schools," she said.

School Supt. Simon Kachaterian said children from Mrs. Denham's area were reassigned because they already are bused to school and transferring them would not require additional busses.

Thurgood Marshall Is Tagged Court Liberal

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirty years at the bar and on the bench appear to propel Thurgood Marshall, who takes the oath Monday as the Supreme Court's first Negro justice, to ward the court's liberal wing.

It is often risky to speculate on the future course of a new justice. But a quarter-century as a distinguished civil rights lawyer, dozens of opinions as a lower federal court judge and his two-year stint as solicitor general—representing the federal government before the high court—provide a fairly reliable yardstick of the 59-year-old Marshall's legal and judicial temperament.

97th Justice

The 97th justice to join the court since the nation's founding, Marshall will take the judge's oath—"to administer justice without respect to persons and do equal justice to the poor and to the rich"—as the court opens a new term.

He has actually been a justice since Sept. 1, when Justice Hugo L. Black administered the constitutional oath in a private ceremony.

Marshall has taken over the chambers vacated by retired Justice Tom C. Clark. He has hired two law clerks—one from Harvard, one from Columbia—to help him with the mountain of legal business the court must dispose of by June. Both are white.

Review Petitions

For several weeks, Marshall and his clerks have been reviewing hundreds of petitions for Supreme Court review of cases decided in state and lower federal courts. In the hectic days following the court's ceremonial opening Monday, the junior justice will cast one of nine votes on what cases to accept for review.

Until midwinter, however, he will be taking part in barely half of the court's work. Because he was U.S. solicitor general for the past two years, passing on all federal cases to come before the high court, he will disqualify himself from consideration of any federal cases in which he had a hand.

What may be expected from the newest justice as he settles into the court's routine? It has been routinely assumed that he will quickly align himself with the liberal majority led by Chief Justice Earl Warren, with Black and Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., and Abe Fortas. Clark usually voted on the "conservative" side with John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart, and Byron R. White.

A "Living Document"

The "liberals" of the court read the Constitution, as Marshall put it recently, as a "living document," to be interpreted and applied in the light of new situations as they arise. The "conservatives," loosely speaking, take a more rigid view of the Constitution. The "liberals" are identified with the defendant in the public debate over the rights of suspects and criminals, while the "conservatives" are popularly identified with the police and society at large.

Wisconsin Joins Withholding Pact

LANSING (AP)—Wisconsin has joined Indiana and Toledo, Ohio, in agreeing to plans designed to prevent double withholding of income tax from persons who work in one state and live in another.

Under the agreement, each state will collect income taxes from its own residents.

Wisconsin employers won't withhold taxes from workers living in Michigan and Michigan employers won't withhold taxes from workers living in Wisconsin, said Clarence W. Lock, Michigan's commissioner of revenue.

Lock said the agreement applies to all wages and salaries paid after Sunday, the effective date of Michigan's income tax law.

Skipper Of Isle Royale Boat Dies

HOUGHTON (AP)—Capt. Russell Greenleaf, 70, reputed to have made more crossings on Lake Superior than any other pilot in history, died at his Houghton home this week.

During his 28 years as captain of the ships Ranger I, Ranger II and Ranger III, Capt. Greenleaf made more than 3,000 crossings between Houghton and Isle Royale National Park.

He retired from the National Park Service in 1964 with an accident-free record.

Altogether, he sailed for 41 years in the merchant marine and on the Great Lakes.

He is survived by his widow. Funeral services were incomplete.

WILL THE SUN SHINE ON DELTA COUNTY NEXT YEAR?

You can't change the weather, but here's something you can change. Like people's lives. Thousands of people, the blind, the handicapped, the abandoned, both young and old, the destitute, people in trouble. Thanks to your past support of the Delta United Services the lives of countless citizens have changed for the better. Because — through the Delta United Services — you have given to 11 hard-working charities each year, thousands have had a place to turn for help . . . help that leads to a better life for all of us. • Next year, this community will keep right on growing, bigger, and we hope better. • That spells good times for most of us, and a better life. • But not to all. Many—many more than before—will need help, to find and make a life for themselves in this great competitive community. • To grow better as a community means we must extend this help to all who genuinely need it. • In order to meet this need, the Delta United Services will have to raise $65,000 between today and October 16 • We can do it. • But we must be willing to increase the amount we give to change the lives of others. • It's up to you—and the amount you give. • It's up to you because the Delta United Services is still a personal and a voluntary responsibility. It succeeds only when each of us exercises his right to give, and then gives enough to do the job. • As you make that decision, remember the size of the job. Remember that your one gift must be split up 11 ways among 11 charities. • Don't short-change our future. Raise your pledge this year, and share a little of the sunshine in your life with those whose outlook is not so bright. Delta United Services.
